Buddhists to Rebel Against Ky Forces

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Buddhist leadership demanded tonight that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime pull its troops out of Da Nang where they have taken control of the city's key centers in an attempt to bring dissident northern provinces back under Saigon's authority.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky fired the military commander of the rebellious northern provinces today, but insurgent forces moved up tanks and artillery in the old Buddhist stronghold of Hue for a stand against the government.

Five persons were reported killed in the government's sudden move on Da Nang Sunday. As the military junta pressed ahead with efforts to reassert its authority in the north, the United States was reported to have warned the ruling generals that further turmoil and strife could only help the Communists.

Sprawling Saigon remained outwardly calm, but thousands of workers went on strike, slowing down the unloading of vital military cargo in the congested port.

Urgent meetings continued through the day at the powerful Buddhist Institute, where Buddhist leaders considered their next move in the wake of the government's lightning troop moves against Da Nang.

Astronauts Are Eager, Healthy

By RONALD THOMPSON
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Healthy and eager on the eve of a bold space adventure, Gemini 9's two astronauts bled up on intricate details of their complex assignment today as preparations for Tuesday's launch continued.

Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan have "the toughest job ever handed to an astronaut crew," one official said.

Only the weather cast a glimmer of doubt about Tuesday's 12:39 p.m. EDT launch of Gemini 9, an hour and 39 minutes after the scheduled liftoff of its Agena target rocket.

Weather observers eyed a weak "east wave" in the Atlantic Ocean creeping toward the area 575 miles southeast of Bermuda where the recovery aircraft carrier Wasp will be stationed in event of an abort.

A Wasp weather officer has said the observers were hopeful the squally front would break up before it reached the area. "It's still too soon to tell," one weatherman said.

Stafford and Cernan planned to discuss their flight plan for the final time with project officials Sunday, they got their final day of rest before their voyage.

Rules Firm Can't Keep Subsidiaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today the New England Electric System may not keep its gas utility subsidiaries.

The 7-2 decision, announced by Justice William O. Douglas, reversed a ruling by the U.S. Circuit Court in Boston.

Justice John M. Harlan wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Potter Stewart joined.

In 1964 the Securities and Exchange Commission ordered New England Electric to drop its eight gas utility companies. They provided retail service to 237,000 customers in a 680-square mile franchise area of Massachusetts.

Last June, the circuit court reversed the commission on the theory it had misinterpreted the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

The Justice Department appealed.

The 1935 law prohibits holding companies — New England Electric is one — from retaining more than one integrated public utility system unless certain exceptions are met.

Ky Crackdown Takes Johnson by Surprise

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called top military and diplomatic advisers to an afternoon session today to go over Vietnamese crisis developing over Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's crackdown on Buddhist dissidents.

Ky's action took Washington by surprise. The State Department said there was no advance notification to the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration, apparently surprised by the Ky regime's new crackdown against Buddhist insurgents, has urged U. S. officials in South Viet Nam "to make every effort" to help South Vietnamese leaders resolve their differences.

Officials said Sunday they did not have advance knowledge of the crackdown and no American units were involved. "There was no prior consultation with American authorities," State Department press officer Marshall Wright reported.

Ky's sudden move against 1st Corps dissidents at Da Nang prompted a near-crisis atmosphere in Washington Sunday as worried administration officials met early in the morning and again a few hours later.

President Johnson called in three of his top advisers, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Saigon Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, for a midafternoon meeting. The President then flew to his retreat at Camp David, Md., for an overnight stay.

The United States apparently is adopting a hands-off attitude in the new outbreak. From all indications, military leaders are attempting to keep their troops out of the Da Nang troubles.

The State Department quickly announced Sunday that "no American units are involved" and there are no American advisers with the battalions of the South Vietnamese government (troops) that were sent to Da Nang.

Wright, in response to a question, also said U. S. advisers with the South Vietnamese 1st Corps troops generally remained with their units, "most of which are facing the Viet Cong."

But he added that "It is possible that the American advisers have been withdrawn from some 1st Corps units in the vicinity of Da Nang." Wright did not estimate the number of advisers pulled out.

Military sources said all U. S. installations in the Da Nang area had gone on full alert and had reinforced their perimeters.

The sources said the new political outbreak in South Viet Nam could have serious military consequences because it comes in the face of a Communist monsoon offensive.

The sources indicated the gravest possibility is that South Viet Nam's military forces might become tangled in a civil war, opening the door for the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to launch wide-ranging attacks and make extensive gains.

Sources here acknowledged that current internal troubles are bound to hurt operations against Communist troops in the 1st Corps area, and point out that the pace against the Viet Cong already has slowed down because of the troubles that spilled over into early April.

Court Orders Firm to Pay Off Fisherman

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today ordered Hercules Powder Co. of Jacksonville to pay a Bayou Meto fisherman for losses he suffered from 1963 to 1965.

Kelsey Carson, a commercial fisherman, blamed the losses on pollution of the stream by the powder company.

The ruling, written by Justice Hugh Bland, reversed Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed and directed him to determine the amount of damages the fisherman should receive.

In April 1963, the state Pollution Control Commission ordered Hercules Powder to stop discharging industrial waste in Bayou Meto near Jacksonville.

The commission said the waste contained chemical substances that were poisonous to fish.

The company then complied with an order to submit plans for construction of facilities to treat the wastes.

Testimony by Marvin L. Wood, director of the Pollution Control Commission, about fish kills in the stream in 1959, 1963 and 1964 also attributed some fish deaths to other chemicals from farm land along Bayou Meto.

Bland said the firm was liable for damages to fishermen for loss of profits and damages to the fishing business, Carson's only means of livelihood.

"By polluting the water of Bayou Meto, the appellee (Hercules) prevented the operation of this business for the years 1963, 1964 and 1965 and by doing so became directly liable for any damage to his business and loss of profits," Bland wrote.

Aubrey O. Rice, 36, of Hoxie and Mrs. Frank Galdes of Des Plaines, Ill., died in the U.S. 67 crash. State Trooper Victor Henshaw said Mrs. Galdes was a passenger in a car driven by her husband and Rice was alone in his car.

Isaac Raley, 27, of Tillar died when his truck overturned and burned on Arkansas 138 about nine miles east of Winchester Friday night. Raley was pinned under the truck.

Willard Watts, 48, of St. Joe was killed when a truck went out of control on a county road and rolled down a mountainside near Marshall.

Showers Are Forecast for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Showers and thunderstorms were forecast for Arkansas through Tuesday as a cool front moved slowly through the state today.

The cool front triggered showers and thunderstorms late Sunday and rainfall in amounts up to 2.52 inches at Keiser was recorded in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the cool front which extended diagonally across the state from northeast to southwest, would weaken as it moved southeastward.

Most of Northwest Arkansas had sunny skies after the front moved through and rain ended. Overnight minimum temperatures ranged from the mid 50s to the mid 60s with the lower temperatures reported in the northwest. Sunday's high temperatures ranged from 77 degrees at Fayetteville to 87 at Pine Bluff.

Plane Loses Its Engine in Flight

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A 1929 biplane lost its engine in flight Sunday but glided to a smooth landing on Tampa Bay. The pilot escaped with a back injury.

The emergency landing inflicted no serious damage on the plane. The engine was found in the bay.

Candidates Fail to Get Large Crowd

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Eight Democratic candidates — three of them running for governor — drew a crowd of only 42 persons, including newsmen, at a political rally in the University of Arkansas amphitheater Saturday.

The rally was sponsored by the 250-member university chapter of the Young Democrat Clubs of Arkansas.

Speaking at the rally were gubernatorial candidates Brooks Hays, Sam Boyce and Kenneth Sulzer; Glen Thompson, Rev. Corbett Mask and James Pelkington, who are running for lieutenant governor and David Burleson and Jim Evans who seek a 3rd District congressional seat.

Hays confined his remarks to his friendships with various American presidents. But before his speech here, his campaign office in Little Rock issued his statement on illegal gambling.

Students Tip Those Taking Test Later

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the 400,000 students who took the national draft deferment examination have a tip for those taking the test later: bone up on your science and math.

Those are the subjects they said were found most frequently during the three-hour, 150-question exam. It was administered Saturday at 1,200 colleges and universities in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone.

The results will be forwarded to local draft boards to help them determine whether the students can stay in school or be drafted into the armed services.

Another 600,000 youths will take the test May 21, June 3 and June 24.

"The examination would have been a cinch for fellows at MIT or any other technical school," said Harvey Stein, 23, a student at Hastings Law School in San Francisco. "But I'm afraid it wasn't for me. I was a history major."

Although they said the examination was easy two City College of New York students — Peer Gewander and Al Samuel — said it was science-oriented, even in the reading comprehension and verbal analogy sections.

Some who took the test said the science and math questions were not difficult, though.

The passing grade is 70 for undergraduates and 80 for graduate students.

Reports indicated only scattered picketing and protests at the test centers Saturday. It had been feared that demonstrations would be staged at many of the sites. But pickets showed up only at about a dozen locations.

Yen is now premier. The last vice president, Chen Cheng, died in March 1965, and since then there has been no constitutional successor to Chiang.

Would Take Troops Out of Europe

By JACK BELL — WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield proposed today that the United States withdraw troops from Europe as part of all but a token force of U. S. the realignment of North Atlantic Treaty Organization defenses.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview he hopes the Johnson administration will recognize the change in status in Europe and seek some compromise with President Charles de Gaulle in France's scheduled exit July 1 from NATO.

Out of such negotiations, the Montana senator said, could come a sizable reduction in the six American divisions and supporting forces now in Europe.

"In view of the economic rehabilitation of Western Europe and the reduced threat of Russian aggression, I believe it is time for us to insist that the European nations themselves take on the primary military and financial responsibilities for their defense," he said.

In another development, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said he expects the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to hold public hearings soon on U. S. policies in Europe.

Church, who recently completed a two-week tour of Europe, said Sunday on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press," these policies need updating. He also suggested that a meeting between President Johnson and De Gaulle would be "very useful."

Regardless, Church said, the United States must cement the allegiance of the 14 NATO members besides France.

Washington discussions on NATO step up this week with Britain's minister of European and NATO affairs, George Thompson, due to see Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials today and Tuesday.

Belgium's Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel is due here at midweek.

U.S. strategists were reported seeking stronger ties and unity among the 14 NATO members who will remain if France withdraws in advance of the NATO ministerial meeting to be held in Brussels June 6-8.

Drive Starts But War Has Slowed Some

By ROBERT TUCKMAN — SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two regiments of South Vietnamese launched a drive today against a Viet Cong base camp 72 miles southwest of Saigon, a Vietnamese army spokesman announced.

Elsewhere, the war slowed to a near halt while South Viet Nam was rocked by dissident army elements and Buddhists in the northern provinces.

It appeared too early however to tell how much the internal political turmoil would cut into American and allied action against the Viet Cong.

The Vietnamese army spokesman said two regiments of the 9th Vietnamese Division — about 3,000 men — began a drive at dawn aimed at destroying a Viet Cong base camp.

The spokesman said the regiments were bolstered by units of armored carrier personnel and rangers but gave no indication of their size.

He said that toward noon the government forces met light Viet Cong resistance, possibly at the outskirts of the target base camp. They killed 32 guerrillas and seized 25 weapons while suffering light casualties nance shop. The spokesman said.

The Vietnamese forces reported taking a 20-bed hospital and a Viet Cong arms-making ordnance shop. The spokesman said the operation was continuing.

Nat'l Debt Gifts Not Plentiful

By JOSEPH R. COYNE — WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam will have a long wait if he expects to pay off the national debt with gifts from the citizenry.

A special fund set up by Congress to receive debt-retiring gifts is almost five years old and it still hasn't collected its first million dollars.

The debt, however, has shot up to $30 billion during the same period to its present $320 billion.

The fund isn't designed to retire the entire debt, but it does afford a convenient spot for donors who want to do something about the high cost of government.

Treasury Department officials said today more than $815,000 had been contributed to the fund through April 30.

Before the fund was established, the department merely tossed into the general fund any contributions it received earmarked for debt retirement.

The reasoning was that this increased the budget surplus and reduced the deficit. The Treasury had no authority to earmark any contributions to debt retirement until June 27, 1961 when President John F. Kennedy signed a bill creating the special debt account. It was sponsored by Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., who deposited the first gift, a $1,000 check.

In its first year, the trust received less than $10,000, but Treasury officials estimate it will produce about $100,000 yearly from now on.

Production of Power Starts

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Production of power on a regular basis at the Beaver Dam powerhouse near Eureka Springs starts Monday, Col. Frank Bane, Little Rock District Army Engineer, said Thursday. Power has been produced only intermittently since last May as the reservoir was filling. Bane said it lacked only eight feet of reaching the top of the power and water supply pool—elevation 1,120 feet above sea level.

The Beaver Dam's power produced by two 56,000-kilowatt generators will be marketed by the Southwestern Power Administration of the Interior Department.

HELEN HELP US!
by Helen Bottel

Flirting Is Ego Builder

Dear Helen: After 16 years of marriage, four children, I still can't get used to one thing about my husband. He flirts. He's a good man, a fine father, but he attracts women and he loves it. Wherever we go, the ladies just keep the compliments to give, how to keep them coming back. When he merely looks at them, they melt. He looks at every woman as if she really COUNTED.

As far as I know he has never had a real affair, but it gets (for me) pretty thick sometimes when women say, "Oh you're Mrs. —, how can you keep such an attractive man!" — as if I'm being selfish, not sharing him with the world.

I worry that someday he'll stop playing the field and settle for one, and then — How Can I Win?

Dear How: There are men, just as there are women, who simply can't live without the admiration of the opposite sex. They must prove over and over again that they attract (and, believe me, they WORK at it) often because they fear someday they won't. These characters usually stop at flirting; they want numbers, not one "hot number" who might chill a fine and satisfactory marriage.

Stop worrying and enjoy your husband's popularity (after all, wasn't this what attracted you to him in the first place?) He hasn't strayed in 16 years, and he's not about to start now. And another thing take a tip from these gals who "melt at a mere look." Go thou and do like wise! — H.

Dear Helen: My wife is 28 years old and 50 pounds overweight. She won't take care of herself, doesn't dress neat, though she has good clothes. I give her anything she wants. But when I tell her I don't like the way she is getting to look, she gets very mad and sulks. If I want her love, I can't ask her to

Astor Assets Are Disposed of

NEW YORK (AP) — More than $2 million in American assets of the late Viscount Astor, son of Lady Astor, were disposed of Thursday in Surrogate Court in New York.

The bulk of his American estate was left to his widow, the former Bronwen Pugh, one of Britain's leading models; their two daughters; and to William Waldorf Astor, 15, a son by a previous marriage. Two former wives also were given bequests. Astor died in Nassau, the Bahamas, last March 7 at age 50.

Vietnamese Woman Has Her Problems

DALAT, South Viet Nam (AP) — Nguyen Thi Hau, a Vietnamese woman, has problems that would make many men pull their hair. She deals with riots, Communist infiltration, a town's food supply and her own law practice.

Mrs. Hau is the only woman mayor in South Viet Nam. Her domain is this mountain resort, 185 miles northeast of Saigon. The petite, 47-year-old mayor was born in North Viet Nam, but has fully adopted Dalat. She moved here in 1954 after the Geneva agreement divided Viet Nam.

"I came with my own parents, my husband and my children," she said in an interview. "My parents died here and are buried here in Dalat, so Dalat is my home town."

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky appointed Mrs. Hau March 19. Since then student riots have resulted in seven deaths, the burning of the Hotel Dalat, and the burning of the town's only radio station.

"I couldn't have guessed I would have to deal with such a political situation," she said. "Now we are trying to do our best to bring Dalat to a normal situation so that we can receive more travelers and tourists."

"My greatest trouble (since taking office) was with the food supply and the security," Mayor Hau said.

"The road from Saigon to Dalat has been cut off by the Reds. We have had to depend on other provinces for rice and milk. We grow our own vegetables here."

The mayor and her husband — both Buddhists — have three children. Two sons, 21 and 24 years old, are studying engineering at the University of Montreal. A daughter, 19, is studying science at Coty Junior College at Nevada, Mo., and will enter Radcliffe College next year.

The mayor's husband, Dr. Nguyen Huu Luong, is a surgeon at the civil hospital in Dalat.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television gave viewers with access to three network channels Thursday night a choice among 14 programs. Ten of them were reruns.

Tonight there will be 16 shows — and 14 will be reruns.

The networks are starting their summer sestas — and the viewers who elect to keep their sets turned on are likely to be bored stiff.

For the past couple of seasons, the early evening schedules of all three networks have been filled with programs classified as family shows. That means programs primarily made for children but with just enough extra in them so that parents will stick around, if only for a later program.

Thus, shows like "Batman," "Daniel Boone," "Gidget," and "Gilligan's Island" — all showing repeats Thursday night — may have millions of children and patient adults looking in the first time.

But it is a rare adult who can enjoy Gidget's girlish adventures a second time around without stirring restlessly.

The television system almost requires the viewer to sample network wares when the new shows come on in September and, by the end of October, harden his choices into viewing habits.

Reruns are not all bad.

If you have been watching "CBS Reports" on Tuesday nights, warm weather is a good time to catch up with "The Fuglive," on at the same time. If you have seen all the "I Spy" programs, a few Wednesday nights with Danny Kaye will prove enjoyable.

But all that is in the late evening, reserved for the more adult shows. But even there, older viewers often complain that programs between 10 and 11 are too late for working people who must arise early.

The Marriage Is Off Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The on-again, off-again marriage of comedian Wally Cox and his wife, Milagros, is off again.

Cox, 41, filed suit in Los Angeles Thursday for divorce on grounds of cruelty. He asked for all community property and reasonable visiting rights with Lisa, 5, a daughter of 25-year-old Mrs. Cox by a previous marriage.

The couple married Oct. 19, 1963. Divorce plans were shelved earlier this year when they reconciled.

Writer's Estate Goes to Widow

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — The widow of C. S. Forester will receive the bulk of the $300,000 estate left by the writer of the Horatio Hornblower British naval stories.

Court records disclosed Tuesday that Dorothy Forester received all money but two $5,000 bequests to two sons by a former marriage and a $5,000 bequest to Marian Pridham of Surrey, England.

Indians Split With Orioles, Yanks Take 2

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians have a starting pitcher for every day of the week. One of them, however, is strictly for the birds.

Lee Stange, an odd man in Cleveland's powerful pitching rotation, made his first start of the season Sunday and clipped the Baltimore Orioles' wings for the 11th time in 13 lifetime decisions as the Indians salvaged the second game of a doubleheader 2-1.

The Orioles took the 13-inning opener 1-0, ending a four-game skid, before Stange's complete-game victory gave Cleveland a 3-1 edge in the weekend series and reestablished the Indians' two-game American League lead.

Although blessed with a staff of seven qualified starters at the start of the season, Manager Birdie Tebbets has been able to give only four of them steady work. The brilliance of Sam McDowell, Sonny Siebert, Luis Tiant and Gary Bell—top men on the totem pole—kept Stange, Jack Kralick and John O'Donoghue in cold storage.

Stange, in fact, had pitched a total of two-thirds of an inning in three relief appearances—two against Baltimore—before Tebbets called on him Sunday.

The 29-year-old right-hander proved as effective as ever against the Orioles, setting them down in one hour and 51 minutes—second fastest game in the majors this year. He scattered eight hits, walked none and struck out four.

Stange, acquired from Minnesota in the Jim Grant deal two years ago, was 3-0 against Baltimore last season, with two four-hit shutouts and a 1.62 earned run average in 39 1/3 innings. Over-all, he was 8-4 with a 3.34 ERA.

Elsewhere Sunday, the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 5-2 and 3-1; Detroit outscored Chicago 8-6; Minnesota slugged Washington 6-2 and Boston snapped a six-game losing string by trimming California 6-3 after the Angels took the first game of the doubleheader 5-4.

In National League play, New York stalled San Francisco 6-1, Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 3-1, Philadelphia topped Houston 5-2, St. Louis downed Atlanta 5-3 and Cincinnati trounced Chicago 9-2.

Stange outpitched previously unbeaten Dave McNally, now 3-1, in the nightcap at Cleveland. The Indians snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning when Dick Howser singled, sped to third on Leon Wagner's single and scored as Fred Whitfield forced Wagner at second.

The Orioles broke up a scoreless duel in the first game on Russ Snyder's leadoff single in the 13th, a sacrifice and Brooks Robinson's RBI single. John Miller, Stu Miller and winner Eddie Watt combined to blank Cleveland.

Al Downing, Bob Friend and Pete Ramos pitched the Yankees to their fifth and sixth victories against two losses since Ralph Houk's managerial return. Ramos bailed Downing out of a ninth inning jam in the first game and protected Friend's first AL victory with 2 2/3 innings of shutout relief in the second.

Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson paced New York's 13-hit attack in the opener with three hits apiece. Two unearned runs in the first inning—result of a throwing error by KC third baseman Wayne Causey—proved the difference in the nightcap. Ex-Yankees Rolie Sheldon and Ralph Terry were the losing pitchers.

Willie Horton drilled a single double and triple, and Al Kaline also had three hits, leading the Tigers past Chicago. Errors by White Sox reliever Eddie Fisher and first baseman Bill Skowron contributed to the last three Detroit runs. Skowron and Gene Freese homered for the Sox.

The Twins came from behind to whip Washington, with Bernie Allen's two-run double in the fourth inning the key blow. Homers by Bob Allison and Zoilo Versalles helped pitcher Jim Perry record his first victory.

Santiago—with a ninth inning assist from Dick Radatz—checked the Angels while Rico Petrocelli delivered two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly.

Redlegs Lick Chicago, N.Y. Takes Giants

Milt Pappas spotted Frank Robinson 400 points, but he's not worried. He figures he has until 1968 to catch up.

Actually, at his present pace, Pappas won't need that much time to pull even with Robinson. The Cincinnati pitcher sliced another chunk off the Baltimore slugger's lead Sunday, gaining his third straight complete-game victory as the Reds whipped Chicago 9-2.

Pappas and Robinson were the primary players in the winter deal between the Reds and the Orioles, and everyone conceded the better of the trade start of the season, Manager Birdie Tebbets has been able to give only four of them steady work. Speedway Race Starts to Shape Up
By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The golden anniversary 500-mile sweepstakes May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway shaped up today as a potential match race between American champion Mario Andretti and Scotland's world road-racing champion Jimmy Clark.

And a tremendous jump in speeds in opening time trials Saturday and Sunday, with one fatal crash and five other spectacular mishaps, underlined the hazards of the 50-year-old track where 57 have died.

Andretti, Italian-born 1965 champion of the U.S. Auto Club's big car circuit, won the pole position Saturday at a record speed of 165.899 miles per hour in a year-old Brabham-Brammer Ford.

Clark qualified a new Lotus Ford for the No. 2 starting spot at 164.144 m.p.h. The Scot won the $600,000 race from the same position last year, passing pole winner A. J. Foyt in the first turn. Foyt led later but a broken transmission finally put him out of the race.

Amberoid Has Chance Some Think

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't sell Amberoid short when he takes on Kentucky Derby winner Kauai King and perhaps a half-dozen other 3-year-olds in the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico Saturday.

That was the word from trainer Lucien Laurin Sunday as he supervised the loading of Reginald Webster's son of Count Amber into a van for the trip to the scene of the 3-16-mile middle leg of the Triple Crown.

"I think I had the best horse in the Derby," said Laurin. "He had all kinds of bad luck, including stumbling at the start, and still showed me something."

Amberoid, who qualified for the Triple Crown series with an impressive win in Aqueduct's Wood, wound up seven in the Derby, beaten only four lengths. Laurin added that Bill Boland again will be astride his colt, who likes to run well off the early pace.

Meantime, Mrs. Edward Lasker's Indulto, another slow starter with a tendency to loaf when he gets in front, added interest to the Preakness by edging previously unbeaten Creme de la Creme in the $59,900 Withers mile at Aqueduct last Saturday.

Indulto, with Johnny Rotz slated to ride, likely will be the last of the New York-based horses to arrive at Pimlico. Trainer Max Hirsch said he probably wouldn't ship until late in the week.

Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Advocate, beaten only one-half length in the Derby, and Mrs. H.C. Phipps' Stupendous, just two lengths back in fourth, are due to depart either Tuesday or Wednesday. Then will follow either Exhibitionist or Understanding, both trained by Hirsch Jacobs. Jacobs said he would decide on his representative by the middle of the week.

Exhibitionist was 10th in the Derby while Understanding, a non-Derby starter, was fourth, nine lengths back, in the Withers.

Creme de la Creme will pass the Preakness in favor of the $100,000 Jersey Derby at Garden State Park Memorial Day.

While Indulto was impressing with a 1:35 mile, the last quarter in 24 4/5 seconds, more lustier was rubbed off Abe's Hope, badly beaten second choice in the Derby.

The Illinois-bred colt finished three-quarters of a length behind Michigan Avenue in the $53,575 Illinois Derby at Sportsman's Park. The winner, clocking 1:51 2/5 for the slightly muddy track earned $294,680 and paid $5.80 as the second choice to Abe's Hope.

Then on Saturday afternoon in Seattle, Gerry Lindgren, the 19-year-old Washington State University sophomore, ran three miles in 12 minutes, 53 seconds, just six-tenths of a second off Australian Ron Clarke's world record.

Lindgren's great run in the Northern Division meet of the Pacific Athletic Conference lowered his own American record.

Boxing Report From London

By TOM A. CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — Henry Cooper's left hook is known to his Cockney admirers as 'Enry's hammer.'

It is this lethal weapon which the 31-year-old British heavyweight challenger is depending upon to floor Cassius Clay when the two meet here in the world title bout on May 21.

But the knockout will have to come early in the match, or Cooper may find himself in trouble. "The longer the fight goes on, the more likely I am to get cut," the Cockney contender admits.

Cooper is prone to get cut like some people are accident-prone, as the scar tissue around his eyes attests. And when he gets cut around the eyes he bleeds—a lot.

He is not pessimistic about his chances, however. "Naturally my aim will be to finish the fight as quickly as possible," he says. "But if it is not possible, then I'm ready to go the distance. I've never been in better fighting trim."

We talked at the South London gym where Cooper has his training headquarters.

Cooper denies that his hopes of connecting a left hook to Clay's chin are unrealistic. "I did it once before, so what's to prevent me from doing it again?" he notes, referring to his bout in June 1963 when Cooper knocked Clay down at the end of the fourth round.

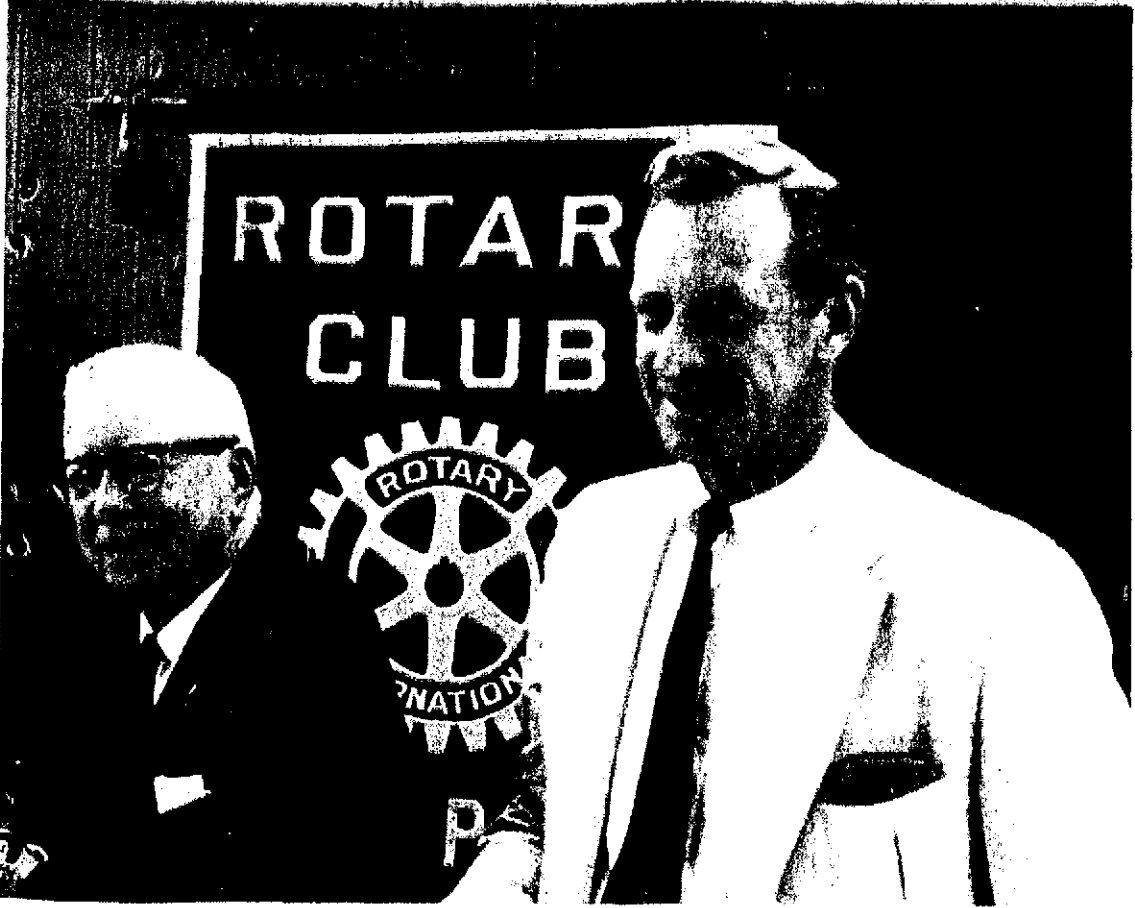

I put it to the British heavyweight that Clay hit the canvas because he was clowning at the time. "Cassius shows off so much of the time that it's hard to tell whether he's clowning or not," says Cooper. "Anyway, he admits that I hit him harder than he had ever been hit before."

Cooper, however, was in no position to follow up his advantage for he was so badly cut around the eyes that the fight was stopped in the fifth round.

When he meets the world champion at London's Arsenal Stadium on May 21 Cooper will be conceding eight years in age, about 28 pounds and several inches in height and reach.

If being a nice guy had anything to do with boxing ability, Cooper, of the puffy eyes and hollow

Rotarians Told About 'Our Town'

Mayor John B. Gardner Jr. discussed "our town" in an address Friday at the regular Rotary Club luncheon at Town and Country. He was introduced by Roy Anderson.

'Your Town' Subject of Rotary Meet

"This is your town, and this is your city government," Mayor Jack Gardner told a group of Rotary Club members and the guests at the civic club's weekly meeting in the Town and Country on May 13. "Hope is unique in that it is a completely solvent community," he said.

He went into more detail by explaining that the city business is big business and during the nine years since Hope adopted the city manager form of government the services of that government have been expanded while retaining a most satisfactory financial condition. The speaker complimented the Water and Light Commission and the Fire, Police, and Recreation Departments.

Encouraging the citizens of Hope to meet with the City Council if any problems arise under its jurisdiction, Mr. Gardner pointed out that street maintenance and improvement is the chief problem of the local government. Therefore, property owners were asked to lend their support to help this situation.

The program was arranged by Roy Anderson, who introduced the speaker. Visiting Rotarians were William P. Rock of Little Rock and Jim Yoder of Archbold, O. Other guests were Bob Moers and Paul Selby of Cleveland, O.

Had to Capture Convict Twice

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — Officers had to capture a convict twice before he could be returned to the New Mexico State Penitentiary at Santa Fe.

James H. Elledge, 23, serving 10-50 years for robbery, escaped from prison Saturday by prying off a vent, climbing to the roof, sliding down a drain pipe and leaping a fence.

He was arrested in a stolen car Sunday at Tucumcari 170 miles east of Santa Fe. A short time later he jumped from the second floor of the Tucumcari City Hall.

He was recaptured a few hours later walking along a street.

"I'm just too tired to run," officers quoted Elledge as saying.

Prison Terms for Kidnapers

PARIS (AP) — Three men were sentenced Thursday night to prison terms ranging from five to 20 years for the kidnaping two years ago of Mrs. Marcel Dassault, wife of a multimillionaire builder of French planes.

Jean-Jacques Casanova, 39, received the maximum sentence of 20 years.

Matheiu Costa, 27, received a seven-year term and Gaston Darmon, 36, got five years.

By GEORGE M. BURVIS, Chief Information, Education Division
LONOKE — Since December of last year the Fisheries Division of the Game and Fish Commission has been as busy as a bunch of bees. In that short period of time the division has stocked over 2 1/2 million fish in the streams and lakes.

Trout stocking was carried out in February and March, with over 230,500 trout released. Upper White River received over 77,500 trout nine to 10 inches in length. Another 65,000 trout were distributed on White River near Calico Rock and also in the Ouachita River below Blakely Dam and the Little Missouri River near Murfreesboro. Spring River in Northcentral Arkansas received over 61,800 trout in late February.

After a draw down and fish kill, Blue Mountain Lake in Westcentral Arkansas was stocked with 1 1/2 million fish between Dec. 10 and March 21. Released were 766,000 bream; 204,000 catfish; 206,500 crappie; 85,000 bass; and 21,000 sunfish.

Lake Wilson in the Southwest part of the state, where an extensive fish kill was made, received over 79,000 fish. Included in the release were 27,000 catfish; 24,500 bream; 17,500 crappie; and 10,350 bass.

Spring Lake in Yell County was stocked with 57,300 fish. The stocking consisted of 29,000 bream; 13,400 crappie; 8,000 catfish; 4,000 Israeli carp; and 3,000 bass.

All of these lakes were stocked during the past two months to coincide with fish spawning periods in order to add to the large number of fish present.

In late 1965 the division carried out a total fish kill on Peckerswood Lake in Southeastern Arkansas and has now completed the re-stocking program designed to restore good fishing on the lake. Arkansas Irrigation Company, owners of lakes, contributed greatly to the cost of the fish kill and bought $3,500 worth of fish from fish farmers. The Commission supervised the seining and hauling these fish to the lake. The re-stocking consisted of 32,000 various sized bass; 279,500 young bream and 319,250 adult bream; 2,400 young channel catfish; 2,400 crappie; and 80,500 green sunfish. The re-stocking began last December and continued monthly with releases of all species through its completion in April.

In addition to the heavy fish stocking programs carried out by personnel of the hatcheries at Lake Hamilton near Hot Springs the Centerton Hatchery in Benton County, and the Joe Hogan Hatchery at Lonoke, the division is also involved in an experimental program designed to establish new species of fish in state waters.

In early April about 1,300,000 northern pike fry from Nebraska were flown to Southwestern Arkansas and released in Millwood Reservoir, located in the foothills of the Ouachita Mountains. Andrew Hulsey, chief of the Fisheries Division, is highly optimistic about the survival of the fry since they remained in excellent shape during the critical period of transportation.

Spring Lake in Yell County and Spring River in Sharp and Fulton Counties are serving as the proving grounds for an experimental stocking of redbreast sunfish, which were brought from North Carolina.

Earlier attempts to rear the redbreast in hatcheries has proved successful, and perhaps is indicative of the fish's ability to certain waters found in Arkansas.

The redbreast is similar in size and shape to other species of bream native to this state, but is best detected by its very long, black "ear" or gill flap.

Obscenity Law to Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court announced today it will review the Arkansas obscenity laws.

The review was requested by eight self-described "girlie" magazines suppressed under the 1961 laws.

They raised several constitutional challenges including restraint on the 1st Amendment freedom of expression privilege.

"The publications in question are not obscene by any standard, whether national or local," said attorneys for the eight magazines—Swank, Gent, Modern Man, Bachelor, Cavalcade, Gentleman, Ace and Sir.

The Supreme Court of Arkansas held in May 1965 that "in viewing the total contents of each of these publications, we think it can well be said that their dominant theme appeals only to the coarse and base in many's nature."

THE WELL CHILD

Swimming is Both Healthful and Enjoyable

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

(First of two related columns)

It will soon be time to get the family swimming suits out of storage. Swimming is both healthful and enjoyable yet many needless drownings occur every year.

Because most of these are caused by panic you should never allow your child to swim over his depth until he has learned to float on his back. Teach him also that he must never swim alone or in unsupervised areas.

The first thing he should learn after he has mastered the fundamentals of swimming are the principles of lifesaving, including mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Scientists have had a second look at the old bugaboo about swimmer's cramps. Many persons go in swimming within a few minutes after eating without getting cramps. If they do get cramps these are caused by cold or fatigue rather than by food in the stomach. The important thing your child should remember if he does get a cramp is not to panic. He should take a deep breath, then while floating face down, use both hands to massage the cramped leg or foot.

Although trained distance swimmers can swim in water for several hours at a temperature of 60 degrees or lower, most swimmers should not attempt to do so for more than a few minutes. This precaution is because, in addition to causing cramps, cold water saps the swimmer's strength.

Your child should get out of the water if it makes him shiver or feel numb, weak, dizzy or nauseated. If you see his lips turning blue make him come ashore.

Q—My 1-year-old son eats with his left hand. Is it harmful to try to teach him to use his right hand? Is left-handedness inherited?

A—There are several theories about the cause of left-handedness. Heredity may HEART PATIENT—Mrs. Phyllis Wright, Effingham, Ill., mother of six, will go to Houston, Tex., for examination by Dr. Michael DeBakey, developer of the artificial heart used successfully for the first time last month. No operation is scheduled. Mrs. Wright, suffering from rheumatic heart ailment, sought consultation with the famed heart surgeon saying she had to live because she still has boys to raise.

The ban on travel was initiated to save money.

OUT OUR WAY

By J. R. Williams

When your partner has been able to describe his hand to you and you jump to game you expect him to pass. In other words, you have told him that you want to play game and nothing more.

When your partner has not limited his hand the jump to game has a far different significance. It implies that you want to play game if partner holds the minimum that he has indicated but are willing to go higher if he has something in reserve.

South's two spade bid was a force to game and did not give anything like a complete picture of his hand but it gave North a chance to describe his hand perfectly and North did just that by his jump to four hearts.

In the language of bids let's see just what North said when he jumped to four hearts. The message was, "Partner, I heard your two spade bid. We are going to game in any event and while my hand is minimum in high cards I have a self-sufficient heart suit of at least six cards. If that is enough for a slam, go ahead and bid it."

South decided that it was enough for a slam. It might even be enough for a grand slam in case North held the ace of diamonds in addition to his good hearts so South used Blackwood to check the aces.

When North showed only one ace, South made a very fine decision and bid six no-trump.

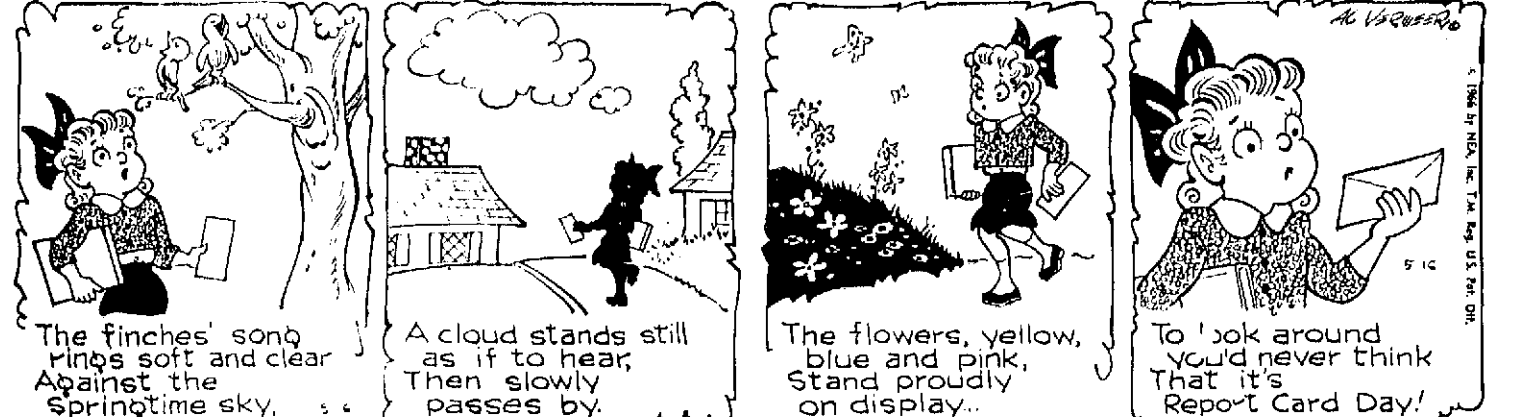

It was just as well that he placed the slam there. A diamond opening by East would beat six hearts two tricks. The bad spade break would set six spades but in six no-trump, South had 12 easy winners against any lead.

A Sackful of Hope on His Hip

He worked for hours, moving a dozen times across the bitterest, bloodiest stretches of activity.

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BIGEN HOA, Viet Nam—(NEA)—In the 100 years and 16 conflicts since the Civil War, more than 31 million Americans have served under arms in defense of their country.

Many of them have been heroes. But a handful of the total have been far more.

They—3,172 of them—have been Medal of Honor winners.

The award is not generously given nor easily earned. In all the valor of World War I, 127 were presented; 459 others were struck for World War II, and 131 more during Korea.

Only three have been thus far awarded in Viet Nam, but it seems likely the total will grow. The recognition is given for incredible feats of courage under fire . . . and there's a bit of that here.

Larry Joel is a good example.

He recently saved 13 people from dying.

Joel, a medic from Baltimore, a chap with a sackful of hope on his hip, was with a few hundred GIs who bumped into a few thousand of the enemy in the hell of a jungle battlefield.

The enemy, at times as close as 30 feet, had a 6-to-1 numerical advantage, knew it, and threw the fury of a battalion of weapons into an action that was decidedly in their favor.

Americans dropped like flies. Every man in one lead squad was immediately killed or wounded. Screams accompanied the swelled sounds of warfare. Men choked and cried everywhere.

It was impossible to help them all.

But Larry Joel damn near did.

Shouting encouragement as he moved from the wounded to the dead, he ripped open trouser legs, slapped on bandages, injected needles, wiped blood to see wounds, brushed away splinters of broken bones, applied tourniquets, transmitted plasma, and ignored warnings to get down out of the line of fire.

"Medic," a man would yell, "please, medic!"

Don't Stop Outdoor Living Just Because the Sun Sets

BY MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Outdoor living need not stop at sundown, nor is there any reason why electrical tools and appliances cannot be used without the necessity of fishing an extension cord through a window.

Weatherproof electrical outlets can be located around the outside walls of your house as well as the inside. Electrical lines can be run a distance from the house at far less expense than in former years.

Unless you are experienced at doing electrical work, you should call in an electrical contractor to do the job. In either case, check local building regulations to determine what is and is not permitted. Also, remember that all work must be done with the electrical current off.

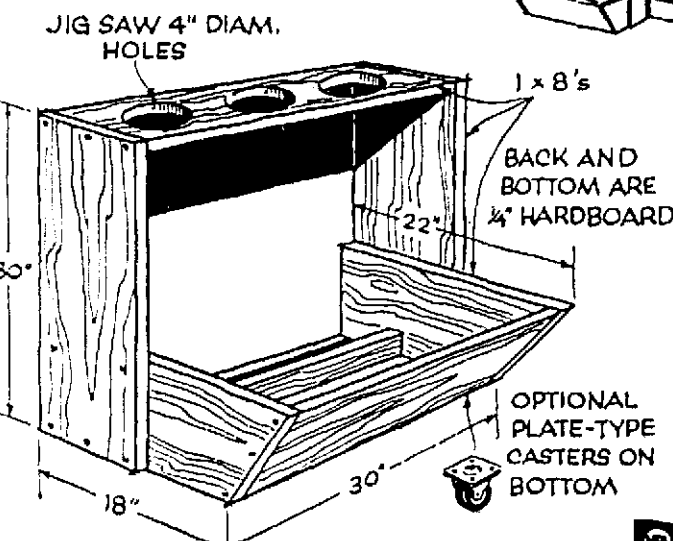

Weatherproof outlets can provide electricity to the outside of your home.

Easiest to install is the outlet located on an outside wall. This generally can be done by fishing wires through from an inside outlet box. In this way, no special outdoor wiring is needed. On wooden walls, cut out an opening for a recessed outlet box. The cover will be flush with the wall surface. Use a standard box, but get a special weatherproof cover plate for it.

On masonry walls, drill through wall with a carbide tip drill, fish the wires through and mount the box on the wall surface. Both box and cover must be weatherproof.

Underground Lines
For power some distance from the house, lines will have to be laid underground. Overhead wire may be used but this is unsightly, requires a pole at the other end to receive the wire.

Until recently it was necessary to use lead-covered wire underground. Recent developments in plastic coatings have brought about a weatherproof wire that is cheaper and easier to handle.

One part of the job you can do yourself, even if you are using a contractor, is the trenching for the wire. This will save considerable labor costs. A shallow trench is required, 18 to 24 inches deep. The bottom should be covered with sand or fine gravel for drainage. Over the top of the wire lay narrow boards so that it cannot be accidentally damaged by someone digging.

Junction Boxes

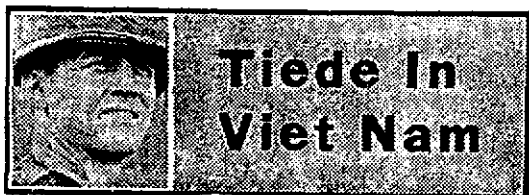

Never splice underground wires except inside a junction box and the junction box must be above ground. Whenever the wire comes up out of the ground it must be enclosed in rigid conduit. This is generally set in concrete.

If you run many outlets you'd better see about having a separate fused circuit with its own control switch indoors. The ordinary 15-amp circuit is designed to carry a load of 1,800 watts. Before you add to an indoor circuit, add up the lamps and appliances and whatever you plan to install outdoors. If it exceeds this amount you need a separate circuit.

Use outdoor fixtures designed to withstand weather. The popular projector (PAR) bulb, available as either spot or flood, is made of heavy glass and is not affected by rain, snow or dirt. Spiked fixtures can be set anywhere in the ground, can be moved easily.

Keep all outdoor sockets filled, a bulb in every one, and every outlet covered. This will prevent accidental probing by children and pets. If you can keep the power turned off when not needed you will be safer yet.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Pushing Another Car

Trapped in a tight parking space, a motorist decided to push against the car behind him. He glanced into his rear view mirror, then started moving backward.

Unhappily, his quick look hadn't shown that the woman who owned the other car was just opening her door to get in. As he pushed her car, the open door struck and injured the woman.

She sued later for damages, and the man was held liable for his failure to take a better look before pushing.

"Such a maneuver," said the court, "is dangerous and should not be undertaken until safety has been made reasonably certain."

Whenever you set a second car in motion with your own car, you suddenly expand the scope of your responsibility. One judge put it this way:

"In so handling two cars, the driver must be as mentally alert and as physically responsive as a western cowboy riding two horses Roman fashion."

On the other hand, pushing another car is not wrong if you proceed with care. Even if there is an accident, you are ordinarily not liable if you were not negligent. For example:

A kindly motorist offered a push to a man whose car had stalled in the street. After pushing it about 20 feet, he let the front car roll ahead on its own momentum. The driver reached the corner, turned—and hit a woman pedestrian.

In due course the injured woman sued the good Samaritan, arguing that he had provided the original impetus to the car that struck her. But a court held him not liable, since the accident happened after he had broken off "control" of the front car.

As a rule you may assume, in pushing, that not only the other driver but also the car itself will behave in a normal manner. Consider another tight-parking-space case:

Here, the motorist nudged the car ahead, little suspecting that it had been left in gear with the ignition on. The motor caught—and, as he watched in helpless horror, the car crossed the street and crunched through a plate glass window.

Monday, May 16, 1966

But again, the motorist was held not liable for the damage done, since the front car's behavior was so unexpected.

Thus, in judging your liability for pushing another car, the law requires you to allow for dangers that may fairly be anticipated—but nothing more. The law demands foresight. It does not demand clairvoyance.
